WHY WE CELEBRATE

On November 12, 1981 the proposed construction of Orme Dam was declared illegal by the federal government and the Dept. of Interior. This landmark decision came after a 13-year legal battle between the FMYN and State and federal government over a dam that would have flooded the reservation and forced it's tribal members to relocate from their lands. To celebrate this historic occasion, Fort McDowell Orme Dam Victory Days Celebration will take place November 13-16, 2008.
